Metallic Brick Slips

USE: Brick Slips for External and Internal Façades

Metallic glazed brick slips introduce a reflective finish that changes in appearance as light conditions and viewing angles shift throughout the day. Their metallic surface creates varied reflections across a façade, adding depth, movement and contrast while retaining the familiar rhythm and character of brickwork.

Available in a range of metallic colours, sizes and special shapes, these brick slips give architects flexibility when developing distinctive internal and external façades. Different finishes can be combined to create controlled variation, highlight architectural features or introduce more expressive material detail where light and surface treatment form an important part of the design.
